Through his pioneer ideas he enlightened our minds for decades and enriched our lives and professional domains with unmatched expertise, all culminated in his giant global firm called Talal Abu-Ghazaleh organization which holds multiple firms specializing in accounting, administration and managerial consulting, information technology, training and hiring, intellectual property, publishing and distribution.

Received his education in the American University of Beirut, displaying great vision and knowledge in grasping ideas which are below the surface and undiscovered or ventured in before which expressed his cultural and economical opinions and orientation, to mention one is when he first listened to a speech about intellectual property in a conference in San Francisco and was really intrigued about the idea and decided to pursue it next to accounting.

His expertise mixed with his multiple businesses constructed a bright thinking man with an infinite potential , in which he was determined to conquer the impossible no matter how hard it is, he was truly driven and that passion resulted in the establishment of two great firms the first one majoring in intellectual property called Abu-Ghazaleh Intellectual Property (AGIP) , the second being Talal Abu-Ghazaleh & Co (TAGCO) specializing in accounting, and since then he has been unstoppable on a global level and started one hundred forty firms from the ground up specializing in professional services including various fields like administration and managerial services, legal services, and information technology.

Abu-Ghazaleh established multiple impacting partnerships with global corporations and firms considering his position and role and due to his firms being set up all around the world. Everybody was proud to call this man his friend or acquaintance ,netting him tens of awards and honorary certificates like : First class Jordan's Medal of Independence from his royal highness king Abdullah Ben Al-Hussein the second , and the Medal of Technical Creativity and Digital Transformation from the donor community of regional humanitarian organizations , and an honorary award for boosting relations between Chinese and Arabian communities from the great Xi Jinping , and tens of other awards and memberships local and foreign.

To his true believes in the great quality of education and the necessity of gaining great expertise in life before joining the battle called the job market, he established around nine centers and organizations majoring in the bettering of the education qualities and methods like the Arabian Organization of educational quality and Talal Abu-Ghazaleh university for Post Graduate studies in business in the American University of Beirut.

His influence didn't just impact career choices of the people around him but his style and thoughts raced to writers who seek unrepresented talent, such as the book entitled "The Secret of Glory" written by the great Laylah Al-Rifai which talks in three hundred and twenty pages about the great life and achievements of Dr. Talal Abu-Ghazaleh since he was a little kid and about his great self-made journey of success.
